Certificate of Compliance and Acquisition Traceability

It is hereby certified that all services and material(s) are in conformance with the requirements, as specified by customer's part number(s) and Fair-Rite's lot numbers listed on the accompanying packing ticket, and are new/unused. Acquisition traceability documentation will remain on file for no less than current year + 1 year after the date of manufacture. Fair-Rite also certifies that no mercury has been used in the manufacture of products listed on this document. Quantities and items covered by this certificate are listed within.

Certificate of Origin

This is to certify that the parts shipped against this purchase order were manufactured in the United States of America unless otherwise indicated.

Notice – Damaged Material

This material was thoroughly inspected and carefully packaged at the manufacturing facility. When the carrier accepted this material, they assumed full responsibility for its safe delivery to you. Should this material arrive in damaged condition, apparent or concealed, claim for damage must immediately be made upon the carrier.

Notice – Defective Material

Should this material appear to be defective, Fair-Rite must be notified by mail or phone within 30 working days of receipt. If it is determined that the material should be returned, a return authorization number will be issued. Material will not be accepted upon receipt without a return authorization.
